Gordon H. Bock

Contact Information:
P.O. Box 668, Kensington, MD 20895
301.933.1071, ghbock@comcast.net, www.gordonbock.com

Education and Accreditations:
M.S., publishing, New York University
B.A., English, Boston College
Life sciences courses, Cornell University
Associate of Applied Science, Westchester College

Experience:
Architectural consultant, historian, and publishing professional specializing in historic building design and construction, technical consulting, historic architecture and furnishings, plus communications and publishing, including contributing editor, Traditional Building magazine and editor and editor-in-chief, Old-House Journal, 1990-2008.

Teaching and Public Speaking:
Topics include: historic windows, porches, mouldings, woodwork, roofing, siding, wood and resilient floors, paint, baths, and kitchens; understanding historic materials deterioration; Arts & Crafts houses; vintage houses; and an overview of historic preservation.

Drew University, Madison, NJ (adjunct instructor in historic preservation, 1997-2013)
Historic Home Show, Valley Forge, PA (lecturer, 2013)
Indiana Landmarks, Indianapolis, IN (lecturer, 2012)
Historic Frederick MD (awards keynote, 2011)
Traditional Building Expo (various lectures)
Roofing Conference, National Park Service, Washington, DC (lecture, 1999)
Interiors Conference II, National Park Service, Washington, DC (lecture, 1998)

Publications:
Co-author, The Vintage House, on additions and changes to historic buildings (2011, W.W. Norton, New York, NY)
Technical editor, Residential Sheet Metal Guidelines (2001, SMACNA, Chantilly, VA)
Chapter author, Caring for Your Historic House (1997, Heritage Preservation, Washington, DC)
Contributing editor, Traditional Building and Period Homes magazines, Old-House Interiors
Regular contributor, Arts & Crafts Homes magazine

Professional Affliations:
American Institute of Architects (allied), Historic Resources Committee
Society of Architectural Historians, Boston and Latrobe chapters