

The Department of Defense
Cultural Resources Program
announces
the National Historic Preservation Act
Section 110 Surveys Project, 2023-2028 in cooperation with the National Preservation Institute

Over the next five years (2023-2028) the Department of Defense (DoD) Legacy Resource Management Program will sponsor a series of projects designed to help meet its responsibilities under Section 110 of the National Historic Preservation Act.

New Department of Defense Partnership

DoD has partnered with the National Preservation Institute (NPI) through a cooperative agreement to work with the cultural resource management leadership in the Military Departments (including their Reserve and National Guard Components) to develop high-priority projects that will identify and evaluate historic properties. Section 110 projects are strategic and address long-term efforts to identify and evaluate historic properties under an agency's stewardship. At present DoD has surveyed 49% of its land (approximately 10 million acres) and 71% of its real property assets over fifty years of age (approximately 95,000 assets).

A Substantial Investment

This work represents a substantial investment by the DoD, with $13.5M allocated to the projects by the Legacy Resource Management Program over five years. Another $10M of additional capacity is available via contributions from the individual services. During the 2023-2024 cycle NPI will support $1.25M in Legacy projects.

Opportunities for CRM firms

NPI is gathering a list of cultural resource management firms interested in participating as subcontractors in these studies. Please send your contact information (name, title, firm name, telephone, email), a statement of your firm's professional capabilities, a list of previous DoD or related projects, and the geographic areas in which your firm has expertise (10-page maximum submission).

The DoD maintains thousands of historic and culturally significant resources that form an integral part of mission support and readiness. The Department's cultural resources are the Nation's heritage and DoD holds these assets in trust for all Americans. As stewards of the Nation's largest inventory of federally managed historic properties, DoD strives to maintain, promote, and interpret the cultural resources it manages, both to support the defense mission and to preserve the country's military heritage for future generations. Cultural resources are mission enhancing assets that connect our fighting men and women with their proud history and traditions.
